Salt Reaches Highest Connect Network Test Score Ever

In 2022, Salt improved its results by 15 points to 945 points, while its competitors' results decreased. At 945 points, Salt has improved its score by 100 points over the last 5 years and reached its highest score ever. The 29th edition of the connect mobile network test demonstrates that Switzerland enjoys an excellent network service quality: the disparities between the 3 Swiss mobile networks are incredibly small, with an overall score difference of about +/- 2% between operators.

In this year's connect mobile network test, the Salt mobile network once again secured a "very good" score with 945 out of a maximum 1000 points. This is the best result ever reached since the launch of the Swiss test edition in 2009. Salt topped its score from the previous year for the fifth year in a row with +15 points, while its competitors' scores have decreased. Moreover, Salt achieved the most significant improvement among Swiss competitors since 2017, with an impressive +100 points in five years.

Throughout 2022, Salt has pursued its strategy to continuously invest in its network by modernizing the existing 4G network and further deploying its 5G capability. These efforts are reflected in the 2022 test results; Salt achieved high-performance levels in all three test disciplines.

Pascal Grieder, CEO at Salt, commented: "The 2022 connect test results, more specifically the improvements achieved throughout the year, are proof of our daily efforts to provide and maintain an excellent network experience for our current and future users. We are proud to offer Swiss private and business consumers with a world-class network at outstanding prices in the premium segment."
